

Integrative Klamath Basin Tagging Projects

- Use of PIT tags is widespread in the Klamath River Basin, and tagged fish have the potential to be detected throughout the system
- KFFS is involved in a number of collaborative projects for salmon in the lower Klamath River as well as studies of endangered suckers in the Upper Basin
- KFFS has developed a web-based database application to store and share data from any project, which should lead to synergisms and new insights

Western Fisheries Research Center
Klamath Falls Field Station